Our expertise spans across many categories including seafood, meat, poultry, grocery, edible oils, fruits, vegetables, tabletop and disposable products.

It is our promise to uphold our strong reputation for complete integrity with our customers and suppliers, and we stand behind our philosophy.

EXPERIENCE

Our experienced international procurement team has developed strong, long-term business relationships with a broad network of sourcing contacts from around the world. We are continuously exploring new sourcing options and have developed an excellent understanding of world markets, supply conditions, and industry trends.

KNOWLEDGE

Because of our broad industry knowledge in a range of product categories, Limson Trading is able to optimize the purchasing and supply function of our business. We're uniquely suited to provide the exact specifications and packaging to fit whatever product needs you may have. We're also able to offer helpful consultative support to sales teams and distributors.

QUALITY

Limson Trading's quality department conducts overseas food safety and sanitation audits, reviews systems and programs, and collects extensive data and research to ensure we are sourcing from the safest plants available. Additionally, we use third-party audits to make sure our products are meeting and maintaining our high quality levels.

We also take care to purchase from suppliers that observe socially responsible farming and harvesting practices.

INTEGRITY

Although the commodity industry can be difficult to regulate, we've made a commitment to ourselves and to our customers to consistently operate with honesty and integrity.

We realize that strict standards and specifications are necessary for your complete satisfaction and our credibility. Despite the challenges, we've worked hard to develop long-lasting relationships with suppliers, and we will not compromise our integrity and reputation in this industry.

All of our products are sold at 100% net weight, and we guarantee that our product label holds the exact item species, specifications, and cut you expect.

Limson Trading® offers meat, seafood, grocery, fruits and vegetables, tabletop, and disposable products. After carefully evaluating demand and identifying opportunities for different products in the U.S. market, we source products to fit those needs. Our product line decisions are based on ideal climates for growing crops, natural habitats for seafood products, and the overall supply for various items.

A key advantage for Limson Trading is our direct lines of communication with suppliers. This helps us decide when supply levels would dictate product specification changes, often much further in advance than our competitors.

Our worldwide contacts have put us in a favorable position to source the highest quality at a very competitive price. Our flexibility as an import company allows us to source any product, whether it's a specific tabletop pattern, an exotic fruit from a specific region of the world, or a meat cut with exacting specifications.

Seafood

Currently, we source everything from shrimp, cod, pollock, salmon, king crab, snow crab, lobster, to lake fish. We can source any species or variety of seafood.

Grocery

We source quality grocery items from ideal growing climates. Our product mix consists of mandarins, pineapple, olives, mushrooms, canned tuna, olive oil, capers, sun dried tomatoes, and more.

Meat

Our current product mix consists of a variety of veal and lamb products, although our contacts are able to source any meat, from specific breeds of beef to duck, lamb, to specific cuts.

Non-Food

We source thousands of non-food items including guest checks, plastic packaging, paper products, cutlery, or disposable products directly from the manufacturer.
